THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO

Position Title: Senior Lecturer

Req # 03999

The Department of Statistics at the University of Chicago invites applications for the position of Senior Lecturer within the Committee on Computational and Applied Mathematics (CCAM). The successful candidate will be responsible for coordination and continued development of the MS in Computational and Applied Mathematics program, for development of new curriculum, and expected to teach four 10-week undergraduate or graduate courses each year. Duties will include participation in the admission process for the MS program, advising Master's students on course selection and on their research, and development or deployment of learning technology in the department.

This appointment will be at the academic rank of Senior Lecturer for an initial three-year term, starting August 1, 2019, with the possibility of reappointment.

At the time of appointment, successful applicants must have completed all requirements for a PhD in Applied Mathematics, Mathematics, Statistics or related field. Demonstrable broad knowledge of the field and outstanding effectiveness and competence in teaching at the graduate and undergraduate level are essential. Applications must include descriptions of previous experience in teaching and research.

All applicants must apply through the University of Chicago's Academic Jobs website at <https://tinyurl.com/yc2ewwn8> and must upload a cover letter describing past teaching and research experience, a curriculum vitae, and a teaching statement. Optionally, a research statement and teaching evaluations may be included. Three letters of reference will be required to be considered as an applicant. Application screening will begin January 15, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled or the search is closed.

Requests for further information should be sent to search@galton.uchicago.edu.
